KIDNEY TROUBLE CAUSES

INTENSE SUFFERING

Sixteen years ago I was taken sick with kidney trouble and suffered terribly for three months. I did not work during this time and was mostly confined to the bed. After using other remedies I finally tried a bottle of Swamp-Root. I immediately began to feel better, and after using seven fifty-cent bottles, was entirely cured and have had no kidney trouble since. I can truly say that I owe my good health to Swamp-Root. You may publish this letter for the benefit of other people afflicted as I was with the hope of bringing to their attention this most wonderful remedy.

Yours very truly,

AT THE NATIONAL CEMETERY, ARLINGTON

Ye unknown dead! The small round stones

Near which ye've resting been so long

Marks many a hero's honored tomb.

Where came ye from? Who watched for you?

Who wept and grieved as last they learned

Their anxious hearts filled with despair,

That ye should nevermore return?

The silent years pass swiftly by.

The winters' snows, the summers' suns

Roll over your unheeding slumbers.

And yet ye still sleep peaceful on.

Are Cromwells there among you dust?

Do Miltons, mute, inglorious, too,

Rest in this hallowed, sacred spot?

Who might have won earth's fame anew?

We cannot tell. We only trust

That He, who knoweth best of all

Has willed it so; and we who stray

Must work His work whate'er befall.

Thus, with no idle, vain regrets,

We turn and leave them with their God.

The Blue and Gray close they lie,

And one green shroud enfolds them all.

One loving Father watches o'er,

One glorious vault of Heaven's blue

Enfolds them in its mantle fair.

And hush the wound Fate's dagger drew.

APPLE BLOSSOMS IN MAY

We have come now to the month of May—

The beautiful month in the year any way—

With the foliage starting out a lovely green

And the apple blossoms in between.

We can travel this world over and over

But there is nothing to beat the old State of Mass.

In the month of May, when everything's in

a lovely green,

The apple blossoms pink and white between.

Art has produced many pictures to please

Nature's God hath painted a picture you can't pass by.

It's in May with grass and foliage so lovely

Beautiful apple blossoms in between.

Life to some may be short, to some may be surely, May gives our hearts a new song.

For shows God's love in everything so green.

Dainty apple blossoms in between.

As we saunter along to the church on the hill

Our attention is taken with the bird song.

All nature is alive with the foliage so green.

Fragrant apple blossoms in between.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

Oldest House in Town Burnt

A dwelling house belonging to Geo.

H. Billings situated about a mile and a half south of our village was destroyed by fire on Sunday afternoon. Also, at the same time a barn in a nearby field

containing three tons of hay, belonging to Charles Cheney.

Mr. Billings house was one of the oldest in the town, built by Joseph Dudley,

a pioneer settler of the town in 1798,

from Acton, Mass. The house has not been inhabited for a number of years but contained a quantity of household goods

of some value, stored there by Mr. and Mrs. Billings, which were all destroyed.

The fire was probably caused by the careless dropping of a match by the roadside,

as there was plain evidence of a trail of fire from the road to the site of the house, which stood a little distance from the road.

Capt. William Whitmarsh was born May 27, 1835 in Norway, where he has always lived by the way. He was first sergeant of Co. G, of the First Maine, enlisting April 14, and has always claimed to be the first man to enlist after President Lincoln's call which was issued that very day. He was mustered into the United States service, May 3.

In the Tenth Maine he was second lieutenant of Co. G joining October 4, and being promoted to first lieutenant in a week.

He served all through the term of the Tenth in that rank and when the 29th was formed he recruited a company which became Co. G again, and he was its first and only captain. He served through the term being engaged in the battles of Winchester, Sabine Cross Roads, Pleasant Hill, Opequan, Fisher's Hill and Cedar Creek, and also serving through to the end of his term of the 29th. Capt. Whitmarsh has been engaged in the hotel business in his native town all his life until a few years ago he sold the Elm house and is now living in his fine residence on Bridge street. He is actively engaged in business in the Norway Water Co. with office in Odd Fellows' block.

Norway Man in Good Company

Hugh Pendexter of Norway has recently been appointed to the Board of Admiralty of the American Legion. The American Legion is a new order being formed whose purpose it is to have ready for emergency warfare, a large body of men over the nation, prepared to reinforce the regular army.

The movement is nation-wide and in its membership will be included men of every art and craft and profession. Each man will register under his own occupation and be prepared to answer a call to arms if circumstances should ever come when America would need defense.

Already seven members of the Advisory Council have been appointed, and in the list thus far are men with whom any association is a high honor. ## GROPING IN THE REALMS OF IMAGINATION

Probably one of the most disgusting things to those who try to live up to the best interests and welfare of mankind, is to see the time people put in reading somebody's imagination. While turning the leaves of what is called a novel, you are neither helping yourself nor anybody else, but instead, you are laboring with a hindrance that is a damage to yourself and the world in general.

During this spell while your brain is wandering in the realms of novel reading your mind is a blank. You are reading about people that never lived and things that never happened. Now it does not take a very smart person to see for themselves that a novel reader, in a great measure who confines himself to this particular branch of reading matter alone is ignorant and there is a lot of knowledge for him that he don't get. If you take your time you will see that in most of our well conducted homes there are not many novels.

But you say what are you going to do? Well I say stop groping in ignorance and if you want to read why read something that will help you know something or at least help somebody else.

The novel reader is handicapped and it cannot be otherwise. Go into any lawyer's office you will very seldom find a novel but outside of his general library you will find magazines and news papers.

He is aware of the fact that what he finds in news papers helps him in his business to a great extent.

He reads about a man who has had his hand saved off in a sawmill. He knows such as that means business for him, and he knows that it is a warning to him, and that it is beneficial to anybody.

But what I speak of is the great long drawn out affairs of fiction and long hours of solitude taking yourself in some attic or some other secluded spot and reading a valuable time that you ought to be using a better way and when you are through what have you accomplished? Have you done yourself any good or anybody else? No. You have accomplished nothing but instead have injured your eyes and racked your brain. Not long ago I read a novel in every day conversation I have noticed that in speaking of some interesting thing that happened in the past, some people will say, "I had not heard anything about it."

In reply I said, "It was right here in your home paper."

Now I do not speak here with any intention of a puff or a boost in behalf of the Norway Advertiser, but on the other hand we are or should be interested in each other. Not long ago I read a novel in every day conversation I have noticed that in speaking of some interesting thing that happened in the past, some people will say, "I had not heard anything about it."

In reply I said, "It was right here in your home paper."

His reply was "No, I don't read the Advertiser," but still he was anxious to hear and inquire all about this particular novel. He would not under any condition read the Advertiser.

Now what are we going to do with such a person as that? He either don't want to know anybody or else he don't want to know himself. If this is true in either case we will excuse him. If you have no interest in others about you, how can you expect others to have interest in you?

If you want to delve into reading matter, lay aside this fiction and read such as will help you in the battle as you journey through life. It will show a mark of intelligence and scholarship.

Better Cake and Biscuits

In all receipts calling for one teaspoonful of soda and two of cream of tartar, use instead two spoonfuls of Royal Baking Powder. You will get better and finer food and save much trouble and guesswork.

Look out for adulterated baking powders. Do not permit them to come into your house under any consideration. They may add an injurious substance to your food, destroying in part its digestibility. Doctors will tell you this and it is unquestionable.

Housewives are sometimes led to use inferior baking powders because of apparent lower cost, but there is very little difference in practical use, about one cent for a whole cake or pan of biscuits—a mere trifle when you consider the vast difference in healthfulness in favor of food made with Royal Baking Powder.

WEST FRYEBURG.

Mrs. Mary S. Webster May 7th, the cemetery at West Fryeburg was the scene of an especially interesting character, when the remains of Mrs. Mary L. Webster were brought from Nashua, N. H., for burial in the family lot of the Kelley's, attended by a large gathering of relatives, former friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Webster was born in East Conway N. H., the daughter of John and Amanda (Heath) Kelley, one of a family of four who grew to maturity representing some of the oldest settlers in the country, their ancestry taking part in the early wars of the colonies. Mrs. Webster received her education in the schools of her town and of Fryeburg and for a few years after her marriage to John Alden Webster lived in West Fryeburg at the home of the Webster family now owned and occupied by Fred Morrison, afterward removing to Fryeburg village where their home was for many years and where their four children were born, three of whom dying in early years left them with an only son.

Mr. Webster's death following a long and wearisome illness left Mrs. Webster to care for an only son just entering manhood. Their home in Fryeburg, now the property of Mrs. Olive Hutchins, was sold and Mrs. Webster and her son removed to Nashua where she had other relatives living, and where she made many friends by her kindly disposition.

Until the illness, a cancer which ended in her recent death, she had been an annual visitor to her ancestral home and it was her custom to place flowers of her own culture at the head of the graves of her loved ones in the large well kept family lot so it seemed her last wish, the costliest of flowers were so lavishly contributed as tributes of affection and friendliness to one so loyal to the loved ones beyond the gates.

The display of flowers, the tokens of many friends and relatives was probably the most elaborate ever seen in the little cemetery here, consisting of wreaths, pillows, panels and clusters of roses, carnations, pink and deep red, and jonquills in panels covering the entire lot in their lavish beauty.

The committal service was in charge of Rev. B. N. Stone of the New church, a former friend of the Webster family and all present must have found the exercises exceedingly impressive, including the brief address and prayer closing with benediction.

Mrs. Webster's son Edward, a young business man in Nashua survives her; a sister, Mrs. Weston Wentworth of Nashua, and one brother Walter Kelley. A son of Walter Kelley was in attendance at the committal service also two nephews sons of the late J. E. Kelley with their mother Mrs. Susan Kelley of Conway. Hon. Arthur Shirley of Conway was a very efficient assistant of the undertaker Mr. Hodgson, as was also sexton, D. A. Ballard of West Fryeburg.
